Dear Dr. Lederberg:

As part of an academic program towards the MBA and JD degrees from the University of Virginia, I have written a report on "The Role of the University in the Commercialization of Biotechnology." I am enclosing a copy for you, and am also sending one to several of the other participants in the Association of the Bar of the City of New York's Colloquium "Can the Law Reconcile the Interests of the Public, Academe and Industry." I am planning on attending the colloquium and look forward to the opportunity of meeting you and hearing the presentation. f ✓

My paper may not hold anything new for you, but perhaps you might find it useful as a summary reference. In addition, I am seeking some forum for publication of the report, and would appreciate any comments or suggestions you might have.

I received my degrees in January, and am in the process of moving to New York City. I don't yet have a phone in New York, but if for any reason you should care to contact me, you can write to the York Avenue address or call me through my classmate, Tim O'Donnell at the law firm of Dewey, Ballantine (212) 820-1584.

I hope you find the paper useful or interesting, and I look forward to meeting you at the colloquium on April 21. ✓

Sincerely yours,

David Kalergis
